

Catalog addendum for 20-21 edition of the catalog
Submitted April 2021

Background information:

The 18-19, 19-20 and 20-21 editions of the catalog have the language: “The major has three components, the foundation sequence, electives (including your concentration), an internship, and a signature capstone experience.” This is in error, as an internship was not intended to be required for the major. The internship should be optional, with students able to choose a different elective in its place if desired.

Proposed addendum to communication major:

Communication majors may pursue an optional academic internship for credit their junior or senior year. For students who select not to do an internship, an additional elective may be necessary in order to meet the minimum requirement of 35 credits in the Communication major.
